"Oh Promise Me!"
At some time in her life Cupid pleads in every woman's ear, and when that time comes it is a woman's duty to think twice before she answers. She should think once for herself, and once for the man who has chosen her for his life companion. If she is suffering from a torturing dragging weakness or disease so prevalent with her sex, she has no right to answer "Yes" until her health is restored. If she does, she will be wretched and ill herself and her home will be an unhappy one. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific remedy that cures all weakness, disease, disorder and derangement of the delicate and important feminine organs. It is not a "cure-all," but a medicine devised to correct this one class of disorders and no other. It has accomplished its purpose in tens of thousands of cases, as is shown by tens of thousands of testimonials of the grateful patients themselves. It imparts vigor and vitality to the entire womanly organism, and is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It transforms weak, nervous, dependent invalids into healthy, happy women.

"I was so weak I could scarcely walk about the house," writes Mrs. Mattie Scruggs, of Allen's Creek, Amherst Co., Va. "Was reduced to a mere skeleton. I was never free from pain in the back and head and could not sleep at night. I bought three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' After taking these six weeks I felt like a new person. I slept well and gained in flesh. I am doing all my own housework and we have nine in the family."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."

SUMMONS.

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe County.

The State of Nevada sends to C. H. Gardner, David T. Jones and W. T. Burnham, Greengrass:

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced by you as defendant by A. J. Foster as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons, exclusive of day of service, if served in said county, but within said ten days if served in any other county; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. Gardner on the following mentioned and described real property, to-wit: South half of the west one fourth of section six in block "U" and lot 5 in block "U" in the town of Reno, Washoe county, State of Nevada, five appears by mistake in the mortgage as lot five in block "U" which mortgage was recorded and of record including the mistake that shows said lot 5 to be a part of block "V" and not a part of block "U" as in fact it is, and also to procure an order of court directing a sale of the above mentioned property for the purpose of procuring money to pay a promissory note for the sum of $100.00 and $100.00 interest thereon and the interest thereon accrued and remaining unpaid is said sum of $100.00 and should there be insufficient to pay said indebtedness a judgment is sought for any unpaid remainder after payment of costs and charges of foreclosure and sale. It is alleged in the complaint that there is a mistake in the description of the property mortgaged and the mistake is sought to be corrected by an order of court, and thereafter that an order be made by the court directing a sale of the property mortgaged and that said sale be made for the purpose of procuring money to pay a promissory note for the sum of $100.00 and $100.00 interest thereon and the interest thereon accrued and remaining unpaid is said sum of $100.00 and should there be insufficient to pay said indebtedness a judgment is sought for any unpaid remainder after payment of costs and charges of foreclosure and sale. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court, at Reno, this 1st day of February, A. D. 1899.

A Belief That It Changed the History of This Country.

It is said that a single glass of wine probably wrecked the Democratic party in 1860. The story is worth telling. After the breaking up of the national Democratic convention at Charleston the party in Georgia held a state convention. Great excitement prevailed. The leaders of the party could not agree. It was a critical period.

The majority report endorsed the seceders or bolters at Charleston, while the minority report opposed their action. The leading champion of the minority was Herschel V. Johnson, and his followers were confident that his eloquence and logic would carry the day.

It is quite likely that such would have been the case but for an unfortunate mishap. Ex-Governor Johnson began his speech before the noon adjournment on the second day and concluded after dinner.

Old men who remember that speech say that it was a powerful argument, and the impression gained ground that after the noon recess the speaker would demolish his opponents with a few elegant hammer blows.

But the overconfident friends of the minority report were doomed to disappointment. Johnson felt the strain of the morning session so much that he was unable to eat anything, and he took a glass of wine upon an empty stomach to strengthen himself. This was a fatal mistake. That one glass of wine perhaps changed the destiny of the nation.

The great orator resumed his speech, but the wine had nauseated him. He was lazy, verbose and unintelligible at times. His style and argument lacked vigor, consistency and positiveness. His friends looked at one another in despair. The men on the other side were exultant. It was evident that the speaker had damaged his own cause.

Then Howell Cobb and Henry R. Jackson followed each other for the majority report. They spoke with an air of expectant triumph and captured the convention.

The majority report was adopted. It is unnecessary to follow the history of the next few weeks. The national Democratic was completely disrupted and put two tickets in the field. Lincoln was elected and the country was plunged into a civil war. Had Johnson succeeded in inducing the Georgia convention to adopt his conservative ideas, it is safe to say that other southern states would have fallen into line with our commonwealth, and the national Democratic party would have remained united.

This is the story of what a little glass of wine did. It ruined a great party, caused a disastrous war, and besides the loss of life cost the south over $4,000,000,000. Perhaps this is rather speculative, but there are many who believed it a generation ago.—Atlanta Constitution.

Didn't Irritate Him.

Here is a glimpse of the seamy side of life in Cornwall from The Cornish Magazine:

"I'm afraid, Jenny, you irritate your husband with your long tongue."

"Aw, no, my dear Miss Vivian, I'd never say naught to en. To'ther day I was 'ome waitin' for'n to come 'ome to supper. Eight o'clock come, an no Jan; 9 o'clock come, an no Jan; 10 o'clock come, an no Jan. I put up me bonnet an shoal an went to every kiddy wink in town, thout Dyke Winsor's. When I come there, there 'vor Jan. Says I, 'You ugly murderer veilan, theeest killed thee fast wife an now theeest want to kill me, too,' an he up an knucked me down."

COMMERCIAL VALUE BIMETALLISM.

There are professed bimetalists who rightfully contend that our monetary system is as nearly right at the present coinage ratio as it could be until we again treat silver fairly. They have no objection to silver coinage, provided the coinage ratio is changed to the commercial ratio. They insist that the example of our forefathers in the adoption of the then existing commercial ratio was right, and that we could do the same to-day. The flaw in this reasoning is that it is based upon the utterly false assumption that gold is unchangeable in exchangeable value as a commodity, and is not affected by the extraordinary demand made upon it as the sole metal now used by us and so many of the civilized nations of the world as full legal tender money. If this position is granted, which we believe is indisputable, that this extra demand for gold has had a tendency to destroy the equilibrium between the exchangeable value of gold and silver, and that as soon as this extra demand ceases it will restore the equilibrium, one sure step will be made in solving the silver question. The real bimetalists demand the full legal tender power of silver as a simple remedy for such a serious complaint as a continuous and pernicious world-wide fall in prices, as far as it is caused by an extra demand for gold.

Who is mistaken as to the position that we must now measure the exchangeable value of our silver dollar by the existing bloated exchangeable value of our gold dollar? The settlement of the silver question between honest and intelligent men rests in this decision. If the price of gold has not been inflated since '78 then this coinage ratio of 16 to 1 is unwise and dishonest. If the value of gold has been inflated why not remove the cause which has been at work for so long, and then by experiment, find out if our present ratio is not sound? This experiment is the only solution of the problem. As a leader of nations we are confident that we are in a position to lead the world in sound finances.

We must not forget that we had no special trouble in relation to the coinage ratio from the organization of our mints in 1792 (if we are not mistaken in the date), to 1873, when silver was demonetized. The relative annual production of silver in the world to the gold produced was far greater in the first half of the century than in the last half. Since 1873 silver is used more extensively for coinage than ever before, but the mischievous mistake has been made in its treatment, so that it is not absolutely a full legal tender as it used to be, neither in our nation or in many of the other leading nations of the world. Hence we are all the more emphatic in our demand that at least the full legal tender function of silver should be restored by us, as a leading nation, before we can make a fair test of the real commercial value of silver and gold, or make any change whatever in our existing coinage ratio.

According to Governor Badler's answer in the gubernatorial suit brought by Mr. McMillan, the entire vote of this city (excuse us, this town) of Reno should be thrown out upon the ground that the people voted for five City Councilmen collectively, instead of one, by wards. He also alleges that the registration of three hundred voters was illegal. If this is sustained the old board of County Commissioners should call a special election to elect county officers, and the Governor should call a special session of the legislature to repeal the bills that were voted upon by the Washoe delegation, who, it appears, were not elected at all. One of them voted for Stewart, so a new election for United States Senator is requisite to entitle the "grand old man" to his seat in the upper house of Congress.

In a comparatively short time India, with its nearly 300,000,000 people, will have the gold standard. The only large mass of people who will not have that standard will be the Chinese. But China is being divided among gold standard nations. Russia, England, France and Germany will take the gold standard to China with them. The foregoing is from the Chicago Tribune, a gold standard paper. To make the statement complete and altogether instructive, the Tribune should have told its readers several things in addition to what that brief "except" contains. In the first place it should have informed them that 300,000,000 people living in India had no more voice in the fastening of the gold standard upon them than if they were 300,000,000 monkeys.

The Utah Legislature adjourned without electing a United States Senator. The Democrats had a good working majority and are to be blamed for allowing local dissensions to prevent an additional silver member being added to the bimetallic force in the Senate. The California Legislature will adjourn in a few days, and, from present appearances, without filling the vacancy from that State. That will offset the omission in Utah, as the California Legislature, being strongly Republican, would, of course, elect an advocate of the gold standard. The same in Pennsylvania and Delaware, which will probably fall to elect, so the silver cause will be gained by the all around vacancies at the ratio of three to one.

BREVITIES.

Chas. Breedin committed suicide at Dayton, Sunday afternoon by sending a bullet from a pea rifle through his brain.

Dr. C. F. Moore and family of Elko arrived on No. 4, Sunday night, for a few weeks visit with relatives and friends.

An Indian woman died the other day in San Pedro, Cal., aged 99 years. According to the Twinkler's arithmetic she was a centenarian.

The fire which has been smoldering for years in the O. and O. mine at Virginia has been quenched, and the drifts where it prevailed are to be opened.

The Washoe Lunch Counter has another appetizing display of good things in the show window. For a first-class meal, cooked to a turn go to the lunch counter to-day.

When Richard Kirman drew his warrant from the Controller for services as a member of the legislature, he remarked: "This is the first money I ever got that I feel I didn't earn."

At the next general election in California the people of the State will decide whether or not Stanford University shall be exempted from taxation. The constitutional amendment has passed the Legislature.

This evening the Rev. Gallahorn, the evangelist, will explain to the congregation where Cain got his wife. A sinful Republican, ex-federal office holder, suggests that he advertised for her in the Eden Morning Journal.

An eastern Nevada paper says: "The legislature has adjourned, and let us leave the members with their consciences." With the exception of about a baker's dozen in both houses, it would be difficult to find consciences to leave anything with.

The Surprise Valley Record reports the railroad surveyors out at Moulton's on the Madeline Plains. Our neighbor is in error. The surveyors reported at Moulton's were merely a few employees of the corporation looking for a sight for the reservoir.—Alturas Plaindealer.

O. Lonkey of Verdy was in Reno last Saturday. Mr. Lonkey has just returned from the Sandwich Islands. He says the winter is hot and dry on the islands, and that he can see a big improvement in a business way down there since his visit five years ago. Real estate is advancing rapidly.

IN RUSTIC WAYS.

The blackbirds whistle all day long
A rhythmic gladness in their song,
And night and morning down the lane
Drifts by the cowbells' rude refrain.

The flicker dips on golden wings,
And far across the meadow swings.
The swallow skims in lines of grace
Like to the curves that painters trace.

A sense of living thrills the air.
Spring's message through the silent sent,
With earth and wood and sky is blent.

The hedgerow blossoms stain the sod,
The south winds make the grasses nod,
And woolly lambs in awkward play
Down the green hillside ambling stray.

Along the blue horizon rim
The lights and shadows stark or swim,
And penciled faintly on the skies
A ghostly half moon's crescent lies.

The blackbirds chant the whole day long
A rhythmic gladness in their song,
And dusk and dawn along the lane
Echoes the cowbells' rude refrain.

A Good Bone Hiding Trick That Proved Successful.

"Don may be less active than in his youth," said the owner of an old shepherd dog, "but his intelligence is by no means on the decline. He has been very much annoyed of late by the conduct of a neighbor's dog that is too lazy to bury bones for its own consumption, but greatly enjoys unearthing the treasures of others. When Don had been cheated out of several of his hoarded stores in this way, he evidently meditated over the matter until a bright idea came to him.

"One day after dinner, when the neighbor's dog was out of the way, Don began to dig a hole not far from where I sat watching him. I noticed that he dug the hole unusually deep, and in it he deposited a large and highly desirable bone. Then he covered it well over with earth, disappeared for a moment and came trotting back with a small bone, which had seen its best days, but was still good enough in Don's opinion for a thief. This bone he laid on the earth which hid the big one and scraped the earth over it with elaborate care. I was enough interested in this clever ruse to watch results, and had the satisfaction of seeing that it was entirely successful. Early the next morning the thief seized what he thought an opportune moment, dug up the worthless bone and scampered away, while later in the day Don reaped the reward of his wisdom as he sat munching and crunching the big juicy bone at his leisure."

AN EASY WAY OUT.

At a school inspection some of the boys found a difficulty in the correct placing of the letters "i" and "e" in such words as "believe," "receive," etc.

When the inspector said blandly, "My boys, I will give you an infallible rule, one I invariably use myself," the pupils were all attention, and even the master pricked up his ears.

The inspector continued: "It is simply this: Write the 'i' and 'e' exactly alike and put the dot in the middle over them."—Liverpool Mercury.

Bobbie—I did think of that and was going to part 'em, but then I happened to think 's'pose I was the big boy? So I left 'em alone.—London Fun.

CITY WATER SUPPLIES.

A Few Facts Concerning Water, Pure and Otherwise.

Having in view the problem of pure water which is now agitating the city of Reno, an article concerning existing conditions in other municipalities may not prove uninteresting. It is a conceded fact that the responsibility of city officials for neglect to furnish wholesome water can no longer be evaded. Whether the works are built and controlled by private parties or by the city itself it is the prime duty of the council to see that the water furnished be of sufficient quantity and good quality.

The quantity of the water used in cities depends upon the character of the industries principally engaged in, and varies from 25 to 200 gallons per day to the individual. In manufacturing towns, and where water is used for fountains and elevators, the amount of water used is greatest. Allegheny, Pa., uses 200 gallons per day, Buffalo 193, while Fall River does well with only 29 gallons per day to the man. All running water has its source in the rainfall, and where it is supplied from springs or rivers where the summer flow is greater than the amount used in the city, as it is with Reno, for instance, no time need be given to discussing the quantity.

The question of greatest importance is the quality. There was once a time when good taste and appearance were deemed ample guides in selecting pure water, but that time has passed. Analysis has shown water, which to all appearances was pure and wholesome, to contain poisonous bacteria in greater or less quantities. It often happens that water polluted with sewage, organic or mineral matter, tastes and looks as well in that condition as when it is sterilized. As a result of this, many methods of purifying have been devised, several of which are successfully used.

The death rate from typhoid fever has been greatly reduced in Berlin and London since the filtration of their water supplies. In Zurich the typhoid fever mortality was reduced to one-tenth of what it was before the introduction of filters for purifying the water supply.

The water used in Lawrence, Mass., contains the sewage of Lowell, ten miles above. Records of many years show that a short time after a typhoid epidemic had started at Lowell one would also start at Lawrence, as the germs of the disease were carried down the river. In 1893 a system of purifying the water by filtration was introduced at Lawrence. Since that time another plague of typhoid has come upon Lowell, but for the first time in the history of the two cities it was not followed by one at Lawrence.

There are several ways in which a city's water supply may be made wholesome for all purposes. Sponge or metallic iron is used with good results in the cities of Holland and Germany. It has been found that impure water may be rendered almost sterile by continued agitation with coke and charcoal, even when these materials are not in a fine state of division. Allowing the water to stand in a reservoir permits many impurities to settle to the bottom, and thus improves it, providing there is sufficient motion to prevent stagnation. However, if the water in the reservoir is not deep this method is not good. Scientists have found that river water running into deep reservoirs contains from five to ten times as many bacteria as that running out of the same. Addition of certain salts of iron to the water has a salutary effect, but this entails a greater expense than by the use of the sand filter bed.

The method generally conceded to be the best consists of straining the water through prepared sand filters, in which is often mixed oxidizing or precipitating materials. Slow filtration through pure sand is without doubt the cheapest way to cleanse city water. The Massachusetts Board of Health, in a number of experiments, has found this to be the best and most economical process. The method is being widely adopted throughout the world. It has been found that typhoid bacteria do not pass through a well constructed sand filter.

An important question for city officials to consider is whether the city or a private corporation shall own the water works. Over one half of the water works in the Union are owned by private companies. The larger cities own their works, while in the smaller we find more private water companies. It often occurs that for financial reasons, or because of danger attendant on the incurrence of a greater debt, objections are urged against municipal ownership. People do not seem to realize that by the franchise system taxpayers often carry a heavier burden than by public ownership. This, however, is always a question to be decided by a vote of the city population.

Improving His Mind.

The Twinkler editor says the JOURNAL scribe plays solitaire for amusement. The J. S. confesses to a less commendable object than the T. E. who plays the game for the improvement of his mind and so successfully that after only three years practice he is able to distinguish the queen of diamonds from the jack of clubs.

Death of a Pioneer Actress.

Mrs. Waller, the pioneer mountain actress of California, died a few weeks ago in New York City. She was an actress of more than ordinary talent, a fine looking and even beautiful woman and of irreproachable character and reputation. Of course such a woman was a great favorite in California in the early fifties, where reversing the Mormon preachers favorite argument, "Women scarce and men plenty." She was an English woman with decided English pronunciation, especially in song. Many old Californians doubtless remember her rendition of her favorite ballad, "The 'orn of the 'unter is 'eard on the 'ill." But for all that, she would compare favorably with a majority of the "leading ladies" in the companies now traveling over the country playing at a dollar-a-seat prices—which was the charge in even the flush times in the Golden State.

Boy Shot at Washoe Lake.

Harry Diamond of Virginia City was accidentally shot and seriously wounded at Washoe Lake Sunday afternoon. In company with his brother Thomas and two other boys they had gone to the lake for a day's hunt. Upon preparing to return home and after getting into the buggy, one of the boys, who was on horseback, concluded to take a gun with him on the horse. In taking it out of the vehicle it was accidentally discharged, wounding young Diamond just above the right hip-bone. The wound is a severe one, but latest reports are to the effect that the boy is resting easy, with fair hopes for his recovery.

The Marriage Law.

A slight additional financial pressure is now brought to bear upon those who intend to enter upon the state of matrimony in Nevada. By the act approved March 6, 1899, the County Clerk receives a fee of $1 for issuing the marriage license, and at the same time he collects another fee of $1 which he turns over to the County Recorder for his services in chronicling the event. The officiating minister or magistrate is required to file the certificate of marriage with the Recorder within thirty days after the date of the ceremony.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and two bottles, has absolutely cured.
